Susan E. Mehrtons, John B. Pehrson : Intuitive Imagery before purchasing it in order to gage whether or not it would be worth my time, and all praised Intuitive Imagery:

3 of 3 people found the following review helpful. Interesting concept...By BeeGeeI will be taking a course (with this book as the back drop) in a few short weeks with BOTH of the authors. I am fortunate in that I live near Susan Mehrtons and have completed two courses with her! If this course is anything like the previous two I no doubt will have an off-the-charts review...stay tuned!I have since taken the course and the book was not even used. The author (John) and his wife (Jeanne White Eagle) gave us the "cliff-notes" version, but I felt it was well presented. I tried reading the book before the class but was lost in the sea of explanations. It was better to watch it first hand.

Furthermore, we actually did some experiments in the class which were fun and most informative. I find myself using it at times where my ego might get involved because this method eliminates the ego making (or trying to make) the decisions. Interesting concept!!9 of 10 people found the following review helpful. A rare source of practical guidanceBy RobAmidst inconsistent and often shallow new age hype and the booming "Aha" industry this book is a gem. Increasingly we will need to look to our intuitive resources to deal with the ambiguity and complexity of life. Intuitive imagery is a simple, and surprisingly reliable way of applying more of our capacity to everyday life.

Intuitive Imagery puts the discoveries of modern science to work through a simple, proven technology to meet the challenges of our fast-paced changing world. This book shows you how to harness the wisdom of your inner images to achieve peak performance in both business and personal life. Results include greater creativity, better decision making, enhanced productivity, the unlocking of blocked potential, accelerated learning, increased success, and a sense of greater well-being. Learning to use intuitive imaging is like finding a new set of lenses through which to view the world. It helps us change our beliefs about how we know what we know so we can begin to restructure how we do what we do. John B. Pehrson is president of Creative Change Technologies, a training and consulting firm to individuals and organizations focusing in the areas of creativity, deep team building, and executive coaching. John is a former executive with DuPont and has over 20 years of broad international business experience that includes business and technology management, strategic planning, product development, manufacturing, sales and marketing. He lives in Signal Mountain, TN.Susan E. Mehrtons is president of The Potlatch Group, a research organization specializing in analysis of business trends related to global evolution and social change. Her clients range from Fortune 500 companies like ATT, DuPont, General Motors, and Sears to smaller businesses, schools, and private foundations such as The Institute of Noetic Sciences and the World Business Academy. Sue is the co-author of Earthkeeping, an ecology text, and The Fourth Wave, a vision of business in the 21st century. She lives in Mineola, NY.

'This book is a powerful key for individuals who want to unlock their own treasure chest and bring forth their unique personal richness.' John Hormann, author and consciousness-researcher'I predict that techniques of intuitive imagery will form the basis for an entire new industry in the twenty-first century. Those who carefully study and apply the knowledge presented in this book will be well-equipped for the challenges that lie ahead.' Jeffrey Mishlove, PhD., President, Institution Network, author, The Roots of Consciousness'The authors of this book are not merely hypothesizing about the importance of intuition, but describing the details of actual research and application using a powerful and repeatable intuitive methodology in real-life situations. These folks mean business and they've proven that it's a resource that really works!' Henry Reed, PhD., Professor of Transpersonal Studies, Atlantic University, author, Exercises for Your Intuitive Heart.From the PublisherIntuitive Imagery puts the discoveries of modern science to work through a simple, proven technology to meet the challenges of our fast-paced changing world.
