Neil Wrigley, Michelle Lowe : Reading Retail: A Geographical Perspective on Retailing and Consumption Spaces (Hodder Arnold Publication) before purchasing it in order to gage whether or not it would be worth my time, and all praised Reading Retail: A Geographical Perspective on Retailing and Consumption Spaces (Hodder

Arnold Publication):

Reading Retail captures contemporary debates on the geography of retailing and consumption spaces. It is constructed around a series of 'readings' from key works, and is designed to encourage readers to develop a sense of engagement with the rapidly evolving debates in this field. More than 60 edited readings are integrated into the text, providing a guided route map through the literature and into the study of the geographies of retailing and consumption. The volume also introduces readers to the exciting and interdisciplinary developments unfolding in the 'new retail geography', drawing on up-to-the-minute research material from areas ranging from anthropology to business studies, and tackling issues as diverse as retail internationalization and e-commerce. Reading Retail is unique in bringing together a huge range of perspectives on retailing and consumption spaces and will provide a key source text for students in this field.

Reading Retail is, quite simply, a stunningly accessible undergraduate text ... destined to be the core text for many courses. Tijdschrift voor Economische en Sociale Geografie, This is an engaging, somewhat unconventional text ... it contains within it the sense of interest and excitement too often lost in conventional textbooks ... I expect it to become the key text on the subject in geography.
